Mustard seed Faith

Mathew 17;20-21 reminds us that mustard seed faith can yield incredible results. Jesus used the example of “mustard seed faith” to symbolize that a small amount of genuine faith in the power and promises of God can make what seems impossible, possible. As such, Gulfside has witnessed the harvest of seeds planted through its Leadership Development program.

Leadership Development: Building Pathways to Success

Dr. Jarvis C. McInnis, a Mississippi native and former participant in Gulfside Assembly's Youth Development Program, benefited from transformative experiences such as spiritual retreats and college visits beginning at age twelve.

He graduated Summa Cum Laude from Tougaloo College, earned a PhD from Columbia University, serves as an associate professor at Duke University, authored "Alternatives of the Plantation," and is selected for the 2025 Collegium of Scholars at Moorehouse College, recognizing his achievements and community commitment.

Youth were emersed in activities during their annual spiritual retreat known as Harambee. They experienced opportunities to meet new friends, participate in workshops, multiple college tours, and worship experiences.

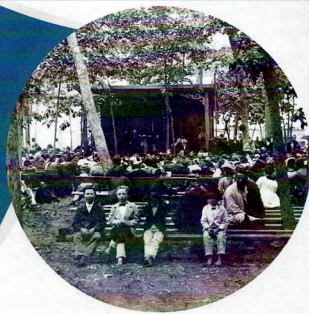

Youth were captivated by a face-to-face encounter with freedom riders as they listened to their amazing stories. Youth learned about the importance of civic engagement and visited "Grace Place," a ministry of Galloway UMC in Jackson, MS that serves the homeless and those in need.

We are grateful for supporters of Gulfside's Leadership Development program as it provides hope, inspiration, encouragement, education, civic engagement. and pathways to success.
